QUESTION 4 – LIABILITY

Plaintiffs have brought copyright claims against two defendants: Axanar Productions, Inc., which is a company, and Alec Peters, an individual. For each Work that you have determined is infringed, you must now determine which of the Defendants is liable for the infringement.

1 Answer the following questions for a Work if, and only if:

- 2 - You found that Plaintiffs have standing with respect to the Work (either
- 3 because they own the copyright for the work, or because they have an
- 4 exclusive license for the work); and
- 5 - You found that protectable expression from the Work was copied by one or
- 6 more of Defendants' works, and that Defendant's work is substantially
- 7 similar to the Work; and
- 8 - You answered "NO" to each question about the Work under Question 3.

9

10 Otherwise, DO NOT answer this question for any such Work.

11 Mark your answers in the table provided on the page below.

12

- 13 • If you found that the Work was directly infringed, then:
 - 14 ○ Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that
 - 15 Defendant Axanar Productions, Inc. directly infringed the Work?
 - 16 ○ Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that
 - 17 Defendant Alec Peters directly infringed the Work?
- 18 • If you find that the Work was contributorily infringed, then:
 - 19 ○ Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that
 - 20 Defendant Axanar Productions, Inc. should be liable, as a
 - 21 contributorily infringer, for infringement of the Work?
 - 22 ○ Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that
 - 23 Defendant Alec Peters should be liable, as a contributorily infringer,
 - 24 for infringement of the Work?
- 25 • If you find that the Work was vicariously infringed, then:
 - 26 ○ Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that
 - 27 Defendant Axanar Productions, Inc. should be vicariously liable for
 - 28 infringement of the Work?

- o Did Plaintiffs prove by a preponderance of the evidence that Defendant Alec Peters should be vicariously liable for infringement of the Work?

QUESTION 5 – DAMAGES

For each Work that you have determined is infringed, you must award actual damages and, as an alternative, statutory damages.

Answer the following questions for a Work if, and only if:

- You found that Plaintiffs have standing with respect to the Work (either because they own the copyright for the work, or because they have an exclusive license for the work); and
- You found that protectable expression from the Work was copied by one or more of Defendants' works, and that Defendant's work is substantially

1 similar to the Work; and

2 - You answered “NO” to each question about the Work under Question 3.

3
4 Otherwise, DO NOT answer this question for any such Work.

5 Mark your answers in the table provided on the page below.

- 6
- 7 • For each Work listed below, what were the actual damages suffered by each 8 of the Plaintiffs as a result of the infringement, together with any profits of 9 Defendants that are attributable to the infringement and are not taken into 10 account in computing the actual damages?
 - 11 ○ If you find that Defendants have proven by a preponderance of the 12 evidence that the Plaintiffs failed to mitigate their damages for any 13 Work, you may reduce any award of damages as you find appropriate.
 - 14
 - 15 • For each Work listed below, what statutory damages do you award Plaintiffs 16 for the infringed Work? You may award statutory damages not less than 17 $750, nor more than $30,000 for each copyrighted Work that was infringed.
18 However:
 - 19 ○ If you find that Defendants have proven by a preponderance of the 20 evidence that the infringement was innocent, you may award as little 21 as $200 for each Work that was innocently infringed.
 - 22 ○ If you find that Plaintiffs have proven by a preponderance of the 23 evidence that the infringement was willful, you may award as much as 24 $150,000 for each Work that was willfully infringed.
 - 25 ○ If you find that Defendants have proven by a preponderance of the 26 evidence that the Plaintiffs failed to mitigate their damages for any 27 Work, you may reduce any award of damages as you find appropriate.

58.	Infinity's Prism (book)	$ _____	$ _____

1 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS TO DEFENDANTS’ PROPOSED VERDICT
2 FORM AND DEFENDANTS’ RESPONSES

3 Question 1 – Standing: Plaintiffs’ Ownership or Exclusive License

4 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS (Question 1):

5 Plaintiffs object to this question because Defendants have already agreed that 6 Plaintiffs are the owners of the works at issue. Further, the Court has ruled, consistent 7 with Defendants’ admissions, that the element of ownership has been established.

8 Inclusion of this question, which asks the jury to complete a chart occupying 9 over four pages, is confusing, time consuming, and legally irrelevant.

10 DEFENDANTS’ RESPONSE (Question 1):

11 Plaintiffs cite no authority or factual support for their objections. Defendants 12 have not agreed that Plaintiffs are the owners of the works they allege, nor has the 13 Court so ruled. ECF No. 163. Rather, the issue of ownership was not disputed for 14 purposes of summary judgment. Id. That does not absolve Plaintiffs of the 15 requirement to prove their ownership of a valid copyright to each work alleged in this 16 case. Indeed, the Court explicitly recognized as the pretrial conference the need for 17 Plaintiffs to put on evidence of ownership and copyright registrations. To establish a 18 copyright infringement claim, a plaintiff must show, inter alia, “ownership of a valid 19 copyright.” Funky Films, Inc. v. Time Warner Entm’t Co., L.P., 462 F.3d 1072, 1076 20 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Feist Pubs., Inc. v. Rural Tel. Serv. Co., 499 U.S. 340, 361 21 (1991)). Moreover, because Plaintiffs have persistently refused either to conclusively 22 identify “the works at issue,” or limit this case to only the works they have identified, 23 it is nonsense to say that ownership of such works is undisputed. Plaintiffs’ complaint 24 that the chart “occup[ies] over four pages” is a red herring: providing the jury a clear, 25 authoritative chart of the works at issue will ensure that the jury is not confused about 26 the scope of this case, and will greatly simplify the jury’s task of rendering a just, 27 well-reasoned decision concerning the works and claims actually at issue in this 28 litigation.

1 Question 2 – Copying and Substantial Similarity

2 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS (Question 2):

3 Plaintiffs object to this question because it is unnecessarily confusing, and 4 misstates the legal standard for substantial similarity under the subjective test. This 5 question also asks the jury to resolve matters already decided by the Court in its ruling 6 on Plaintiffs’ Motion for Summary Judgment, and omits without explanation the 7 Vulcan Scene.

8 The sole remaining responsibility of the jury is to decide if Prelude to Axanar, 9 the Vulcan Scene, and the script for the Axanar Motion Picture (collectively, the 10 “Axanar Works”), taken together and from the viewpoint of an ordinary reasonable 11 observer, are similar in concept and feel to Plaintiffs’ copyrighted Star Trek works.
12 See e.g. Three Boys Music Corp. v. Bolton, 212 F.3d 477, 485 (9th Cir. 2000).
13 Defendants’ proposed instruction does not refer to an ordinary reasonable observer, or 14 the concept and feel of the works, or define substantial similarity at all. Instead, 15 Defendants propose that the jury answer a complex, multi-part test, again in the form 16 of a chart spanning several pages, whereby they must determine substantial similarity 17 for each of dozens of Plaintiffs’ copyrighted works. The chart, despite its length, 18 omits reference to the Vulcan Scene, but demands a finding on fair use, which the 19 Court has already decided is not a viable defense.

20 This question is misleading regarding the remaining inquiry for substantial 21 similarity while also being excessive in length and complexity. Additionally, the form 22 of the question would require Plaintiffs to present dozens of individual Star Trek 23 works to the jury, a time consuming and unnecessary expenditure of court resources 24 when the jury make their finding based on the Star Trek works as a whole.

25 DEFENDANTS’ RESPONSE (Question 2):

26 Although Plaintiffs attempt to make much of the fact that the Court decided 27 extrinsic (or objective) substantial similarity and fair use on summary judgment, they 28 neglect to mention that the parties exchanged proposed verdict forms before the

1 Court’s ruling issued. Defendants have submitted proposed instructions on copying 2 and substantial similarity that reflect the Court’s rulings, and will submit an amended 3 proposed verdict form that reflects those rulings and omits the “fair use” column.

4 Notwithstanding, Plaintiffs’ objections are not well founded. As Plaintiffs’ 5 complaint, their pleadings throughout this case, and their proposed jury instructions 6 make crystal clear, the “Vulcan Scene” is merely a part of, and thus subsumed by, the 7 projected “Axanar Motion Picture.” And Plaintiffs’ objection to being “require[d] to 8 present dozens of individual Star Trek works to the jury” is disingenuous: it would, of 9 course, be impossible for the jury to “make their finding based on the Star Trek 10 works” without being presented with the works. Furthermore, to the extent Plaintiffs 11 intend to elect statutory damages pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), Defendants note that 12 Plaintiffs’ objections here would perforce limit them to seeking a single award of 13 statutory damages. Any other damages theory would be foreclosed by the Copyright 14 Act, which provides that statutory damages may be awarded solely “with respect to 15 any one work, for which any ... infringer is liable.” 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(1) (emphasis 16 added). Plaintiffs thus may not present a single work (“the Star Trek works as a 17 whole”) for purposes of the subjective substantial similarity analysis, while reserving 18 the right to seek damages for multiple works.

19 Finally, Plaintiffs’ complaint about the chart provided is meritless for the 20 reasons discussed above: providing the jury a clear, authoritative chart of the works at 21 issue will ensure that the jury is not confused about the scope of this case, and will 22 greatly simplify the jury’s task of rendering at a just, well-reasoned decision 23 concerning the works and claims actually at issue in this litigation.

24 Question 3 – Defendants’ Affirmative Defenses

25 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS (Question 3):

26 Plaintiffs object to this question because it is confusing and asks the jury make 27 findings on inapplicable, or equitable, legal theories. Defendants ask that the jury 28 find, as to each of dozens of Plaintiffs’ copyrighted works, whether the affirmative

1 defenses of consent, authorized use, waiver, estoppel, unclean hands, or copyright 2 misuse apply the Axanar Works (here lumped together with no explanation).

3 Regarding consent and authorized use, Defendants appear to be asking the jury 4 to decide if Defendants had an implied license in Plaintiffs' Star Trek works. Implied 5 license requires that Defendants present evidence that, among other things, 6 Defendants requested that Plaintiffs create Star Trek films and television shows, an 7 absurd position for which the jury will receive no evidence.

8 Regarding waiver (abandonment), Defendants must present evidence that 9 Plaintiffs intended to surrender their copyrights to the Star Trek works and performed 10 some act evidencing that intent. Micro Star v. Formgen, Inc., 154 F.3d 1107, 1114 11 (9th Cir. 1998). Defendants have no such evidence. Therefore, this instruction will 12 only confuse the jury.

13 Unclean hands and copyright misuse are legally identical, and separating them 14 into unique categories is unnecessarily confusing. Altera Corp. v. Clear Logic, Inc., 15 424 F.3d 1079, 1090 (9th Cir. 2005) (recognizing the 5th Circuit's discussion of 16 copyright misuse "as an unclean hands defense which forbids the use of the copyright 17 to secure an exclusive right or limited monopoly not granted by the Copyright Office 18 and which is contrary to the public policy to grant."). Furthermore, Defendants will 19 present no evidence that Plaintiffs abused their copyrights by gaining commercial 20 control over products they do not own, or otherwise.

21 Estoppel is an equitable defense for which there is no admissible evidence for 22 the jury to review. See Paramount Pictures Corp. v. Carol Publ'g Grp., 11 F. Supp.
23 2d 329, 337 (S.D.N.Y. 1998) (in rejecting the "estoppel by transitivity," the court 24 noted that a copyright holder "is free to instigate legal action against whomever it 25 wishes.").

26 For each of the affirmative defenses listed, the use of a chart demanding that the 27 jury make findings on dozens of individual Star Trek works is confusing and wasteful 28 of the Court's resources. For the jury to fill in this chart, Plaintiffs would be required

1 to present each of the referenced Star Trek works one at a time, an unnecessary
2 expenditure of court resources. The jury may decide on any relevant affirmative 3 defenses with regard to the Star Trek works as a whole.

4 DEFENDANTS’ RESPONSE (Question 3):

5 Plaintiffs misstate the law concerning Defendants’ affirmative defenses:

6 • Plaintiffs egregiously misstate the law concerning implied license, which 7 does not require a showing that “Defendants requested that Plaintiffs create Star Trek 8 films and television shows.” Unsurprisingly, Plaintiffs provide no authority to support 9 this position. Rather, “[a] license is a defense to a claim of copyright infringement,” 10 see Effects Assocs., Inc. v. Cohen, 908 F.2d 555, 558–59 (9th Cir. 1990), and a 11 copyright owner may grant a nonexclusive license impliedly, through its conduct. Id.
12 (citing 3 Melville B. Nimmer & David Nimmer, Nimmer On Copyright § 10.03[A] 13 (1989)). An implied license can be found where the copyright holder engages in 14 conduct “from which the other party may properly infer that the owner consents to his 15 use.” Field v. Google Inc., 412 F. Supp. 2d 1106, 1115–16 (D. Nev. 2006) (alterations 16 and quotation marks omitted); see Keane Dealer Servs., Inc. v. Harts, 968 F. Supp.
17 944, 947 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) (“consent given in the form of mere permission or lack of 18 objection is also equivalent to a nonexclusive license”). Moreover, Plaintiffs’ 19 speculation that Defendant’s defense of consent is limited to an “implied license” 20 defense lacks foundation.

21 • Plaintiffs’ attempt to conflate “waiver” with “abandonment” lacks any 22 basis. Contrary to Plaintiffs’ contention, Defendants do not argue that Plaintiffs 23 “abandoned” their copyrights. Plaintiffs also fail to object to Defendants’ affirmative 24 defense of waiver, which is plainly viable here. “Generally, a ‘copyright owner who 25 grants a nonexclusive license to use his copyrighted material waives his right to sue 26 the licensee for copyright infringement.’” Sun Microsystems, Inc. v. Microsoft Corp., 27 188 F.3d 1115, 1121 (9th Cir. 1999) (quoting Graham v. James, 144 F.3d 229, 236 28 (2d Cir. 1998)). A nonexclusive implied license may be implied from conduct or

1 granted orally. Carson v. Dynege, 344 F.3d 446, 451 n. 5 (5th Cir. 2003); and see 2 supra, response to Plaintiffs’ objection regarding Defendants’ license defense.

3 • Plaintiffs’ attempt to conflate the distinct doctrines of unclean hands and 4 copyright misuse is unpersuasive and lacks a legal basis. As defined by the Ninth 5 Circuit, the defense of copyright misuse “forbids the use of the copyright to secure an 6 exclusive right or limited monopoly not granted by the Copyright Office.” Practice
 7 Mgmt. Info. Corp. v. Am. Med. Ass’n, 121 F.3d 516, 520 (9th Cir. 1997), amended, 8 133 F.3d 1140 (9th Cir. 1998) (citing and quoting Lasercomb America, Inc. v.
 9 Reynolds, 911 F.2d 970, 977–79 (4th Cir. 1990)). The language Plaintiffs quote from 10 Altera Corp. v. Clear Logic, Inc., 424 F.3d 1079, 1090 (9th Cir. 2005) is dicta, from a 11 case in which the court determined that the defense did not apply. Moreover, 12 Plaintiffs’ objection that copyright misuse hinges on an attempt to “gain commercial 13 control over products they do not own” has no basis, nor do Plaintiffs cite any 14 supporting authority.

15 • Plaintiffs’ objection to the defense of so-called “estoppel by transitivity” 16 is irrelevant, since that is not a defense in this case. And estoppel requires a factual 17 inquiry into “[f]our elements ... 1) the party to be estopped must know the facts; 2) he 18 must intend that his conduct shall be acted on or must so act that the party asserting 19 the estoppel has a right to believe it is so intended; 3) the latter must be ignorant of the 20 true facts; and 4) he must rely on the former's conduct to his injury.” United States v.
 21 King Features Entm't, Inc., 843 F.2d 394, 399 (9th Cir. 1988) (citation omitted).
 22 Plaintiffs do not—and cannot—dispute that estoppel is a viable defense to copyright 23 infringement in the Ninth Circuit. Id.; see also Kramer v. From The Heart Prods., 24 Inc., 300 F. App'x 555, 557 (9th Cir. 2008) (finding “facts ... sufficient to establish an 25 estoppel defense” and upholding determination that plaintiffs were “estopped from 26 bringing any copyright claims against [defendants]” based on those facts).

27 As discussed above, providing the jury a clear, authoritative chart of the works 28 at issue will ensure that the jury is not confused about the scope of this case, and will

1 greatly simplify the jury’s task of rendering at a just, well-reasoned decision
2 concerning the works and claims actually at issue in this litigation.

3 Question 4 – Liability

4 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS (Question 4):

5 Plaintiffs object to presenting this question to the jury because the Court has 6 already ruled that Peters is subject to liability (assuming the jury finds subjective 7 substantial similarity) under the doctrines of vicarious and contributory infringement.
8 Plaintiffs further object to the form of the question. Again, Defendants use a chart 9 demanding that the jury make findings on dozens of individual Star Trek works, 10 which would require Plaintiffs to present each of the referenced Star Trek works to the 11 jury one at a time. This process would be an unnecessary expenditure of court 12 resources considering that the jury may decide infringement of the Star Trek works as 13 a whole.

14 DEFENDANTS’ RESPONSE (Question 4):

15 Plaintiffs’ objection that “the Court has already ruled that Peters is subject to 16 liability (assuming the jury finds subjective substantial similarity) under the doctrines 17 of vicarious and contributory infringement” is unfounded: the Court did not find direct 18 infringement, nor did it find infringement with respect to any particular work.
19 Furthermore, the Court left unresolved the critical question of which particular alleged 20 works were the sources of Defendants’ purported copying, as well as which particular 21 alleged works were infringed by Prelude to Axanar, and which by the Axanar Motion 22 Picture. Again, Plaintiffs’ objection to being “require[d] to present dozens of 23 individual Star Trek works to the jury” is disingenuous: it would, of course, be 24 impossible for the jury to “make their finding based on the Star Trek works” without 25 being presented with the works. Furthermore, to the extent Plaintiffs’ intend to elect 26 statutory damages pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), Defendants note that Plaintiffs’ 27 objections here would perforce limit them to seeking a single award of statutory 28 damages. Any other damages theory would be foreclosed by the Copyright Act, which 1 provides that statutory damages may be awarded solely “with respect to any one 2 work, for which any ... infringer is liable.” 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(1) (emphasis added).

3 Plaintiffs thus may not present a single work (“the Star Trek works as a whole”) for 4 purposes of the subjective substantial similarity analysis, while reserving the right to 5 seek damages for multiple works.

6 As discussed above, providing the jury a clear, authoritative chart of the works 7 at issue will ensure that the jury is not confused about the scope of this case, and will 8 greatly simplify the jury’s task of rendering at a just, well-reasoned decision 9 concerning the works and claims actually at issue in this litigation.

10 Question 5 – Damages

11 PLAINTIFFS’ OBJECTIONS (Question 5):

12 Plaintiffs object to presenting this question to the jury because it is confusing 13 and incorporates inapplicable affirmative defenses. In determining damages, 14 Defendants ask the jury to decide if Plaintiffs failed to mitigate their damages and to 15 find whether the infringement was innocent. Failure to mitigate damages is not a 16 defense to copyright infringement and its inclusion here will only mislead and confuse 17 the jury.

18 Innocent infringement is also inapplicable. Under 17 U.S.C. § 401(d), “[i]f a 19 notice of copyright in the form and position specified by this section appears on the 20 published copy or copies to which a defendant in a copyright Infringement suit had 21 access, then no weight shall be given to such a defendant’s interposition of a defense 22 based on innocent infringement in mitigation of actual or statutory damages, except as 23 provided in the last sentence of section 504(c)(2).” Therefore, because each of the 24 works Plaintiffs claim were infringed, to which the Court has decided Defendants had 25 access, featured a copyright notice, and because Defendants are not nonprofit 26 educational institutions, libraries, or archives (or employees/agents thereof), innocent 27 infringement is irrelevant to this case. See 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(2). Asking the jury to 28

1 make a finding regarding innocent infringement would be irrelevant and misleading in 2 their calculation of damages.

3 Plaintiffs also object to Defendants' inclusion of yet another chart requiring 4 findings on each of dozens of Plaintiffs' Star Trek works. Defendants presume that 5 the jury will award different damages for each of the Star Trek works that were 6 infringed. However, the jury will receive no evidence suggesting that Defendants' 7 infringement of certain of the Star Trek works was any more or less egregious than 8 any other. This question will only confuse the jury, and require Plaintiffs present 9 evidence of infringement in each work listed one by one that, as noted above, would 10 be waste of court resources. The jury should be asked to note the amount of damages 11 per infringed work, then simply multiply by the number of works infringed.

12 DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE (Question 5):

13 Plaintiffs' non sequitur statement that "[f]ailure to mitigate damages is not a 14 defense to copyright infringement" is irrelevant, since the instruction at issue is a 15 damages instruction, not a liability instruction. Plaintiffs' failure to mitigate their 16 alleged damages is clearly highly relevant to the calculation of damages.

17 Plaintiffs' objection that "[i]nnocent infringement is also inapplicable" 18 misstates the law and relies on a fundamental misreading of the Copyright Act.
19 Plaintiffs appear to have been misled by the term "innocent infringement"—which, 20 though it is used as a shorthand reference to the provisions of 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(2), 21 appears nowhere in that section. Instead, the irrelevant language Plaintiffs cite from 22 17 U.S.C. § 401(d) addresses the "evidentiary weight of notice" applicable to one who 23 is defined as an "innocent infringer[]" under § 405(b). The Copyright Act's plain 24 language shows that § 502(c)(2) is not limited to the "innocent infringers" of §§ 401, 25 402, and 405. Rather, the statute unambiguously provides that "[i]n a case where the 26 infringer sustains the burden of proving... that [he] was not aware and had no reason 27 to believe that his... acts constituted an infringement of copyright, the court in its 28

1 discretion may reduce the award of statutory damages to a sum of not less than $200.” 2 Id.

3 Finally, Plaintiffs offer the astonishing proposal that “[t]he jury should be asked 4 to note the amount of damages ... then simply multiply by the number of works 5 [allegedly] infringed.” There is no basis for such a procedure, which is flatly 6 incompatible with the plain language of the Copyright Act. Statutory damages may be 7 awarded solely “with respect to any one work, for which any ... infringer is liable.”
8 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(1) (emphasis added). Plaintiffs thus may not present a single work 9 (“the Star Trek works as a whole”) for purposes of the infringement analysis, while 10 reserving the right to seek damages for multiple works. Simply put, Plaintiffs must 11 show that any particular “one work” has actually been infringed, before they are 12 entitled to statutory damages for that work. And, as discussed above, such an approach 13 is also incompatible with Plaintiffs’ repeated assertion that need only prove 14 infringement of a single work, namely “the Star Trek works as a whole.”
15 As discussed above, providing the jury a clear, authoritative chart of the works at issue 16 will ensure that the jury is not confused about the scope of this case, and will greatly 17 simplify the jury’s task of rendering at a just, well-reasoned decision concerning the 18 works and claims actually at issue in this litigation.
